A word on the WORD

Jesus sent the disciples out and asked them to trust that the resources that they needed to accomplish their mission were within reach. He told them to not focus on what they didn't have or what they couldn't afford, but to work with what was available to them. That level of trust is a high calling. And we often find ourselves falling short by focusing on our limitations or our lack rather than on the abundance that God has already provided to us. We are called to out-of-the-box thinking, to the creative use of resources, and ultimately to trust that we have enough, and we are enough—enough to be disciples of Jesus Christ for the transformation of the world. So, let this worship be a time of prayer for deeper trust, for opened eyes, for willing hearts and hands. Let this time be a time of stirring us up to go and proclaim that the kingdom of heaven is at hand.

Thought for Today

Then Jesus went about all the cities and villages, teaching in their synagogues, and proclaiming the good news of the kingdom, and curing every disease and every sickness. When he saw the crowds, he had compassion for them, because they were harassed and helpless, like sheep without a shepherd. Then he said to his disciples, "The harvest is plentiful, but the laborers are few; therefore, ask the Lord of the harvest to send out laborers into his harvest. "Then Jesus summoned his twelve disciples and gave them authority over unclean spirits, to cast them out, and to cure every disease and every sickness. These twelve Jesus sent out with the following instructions: "Go nowhere among the Gentiles, and enter no town of the Samaritans, but go rather to the lost sheep of the house of Israel. As you go, proclaim the good news, 'The kingdom of heaven has come near.' Cure the sick, raise the dead, cleanse the lepers, cast out demons. You received without payment; give without payment.
